

May

60

242

The Radford University ppalachan studies program seeks applicants for the position of Term Director of ppalachan studies program undergoing a transition as shifts leadership and administration from the College of Education and Human Development to the College of Human and Behavioral Sciences following a semester long conversation with stakeholders across campus. Applicants are expected to renew the program's role in the university as a vibrant cross campus interdisciplinary undergraduate program whose graduates will leverage region specific competencies to support holistic well-being, community focused education, equitable prosperity, sustainable environments and enriched cultural and social systems both within and beyond ppalachia.

The Director of ppalachan studies will provide leadership to move the vision forward, schedule sessions of committees, advise all students in the minor hire, train, assign and evaluate adjunct faculty, oversee the operating budget, work with the faculty to plan co-curricular programming throughout the year, work with stakeholders from across the university to improve and expand the program, coordinate assessment and submit assessment data for the minor and submit periodic program review documents.

Compensation for a stipend and course reassignments is subject to approval by the applicant's department chair/school director as well as the dean.

Ph.D. or terminal degree, tenure or tenure track faculty status, tenure preferred, demonstrated expertise in ppalachan studies, demonstrated commitment to the field of ppalachan studies.

A cover letter that explains the applicant's reasons for seeking this position, prior experience and expertise in ppalachan studies and demonstrated commitment to the field of ppalachan studies, curriculum vitae, recommendation from the department chair or school director supporting the application.

Application should be submitted to Dr. Bisha Bodenhamer (abodenham3@radford.edu) by close of business on Wednesday, August 24th. Appointments will begin in August and may be renewed for a second year. Thank you for your application!

A H I

As part of a presidential initiative to support Radford University's commitment to access and affordability, wages for all student workers will be raised to a minimum of $10 per hour beginning this fall. This is a commitment to both attract and retain students by helping them offset the cost of attendance and to provide valuable and rewarding professional experiences that will help them prepare for their careers.

We encourage all units to plan for this change accordingly to ensure that student employment opportunities can be accommodated at the new rate within your current budget. In cases where that is not possible, please consult with your unit's leadership and the budget office where necessary.

If you employ student workers, here's how you can help us:

- Enter your open positions for fall. Handshake for new students to view by June 24th.

• s you craft ob descr pt ons cons der the pos t on w ll offer mean ngful work exper ences National ssoc at on for olleges and mployers Breer eadness ompetences are a helpful tool for support ng our students

MITO, CUE/ACET, and, cu de 3 C, re, « p d r of 25 a re TTÖplent Äv Öpön E t w ll prov de tran ng sess ons for supervisors who w ll be post ng campus o ds to andshake for student employment ative® Radford Center for Innov earning Radford Center for Innov lease on US Ln or on oom for the arszall unimer nst tuRe n esearch and reat v ty h s yars

MINDER CIL is open during the summer. Our services are available to you: course observations, course design, course revisions, audio and video studio, universal design support and maker space sewing, t-shirt making, mug making, button making, glowforge, laser cut. Email us and let us know how we can help you.

Dr. Hyna Hayes was selected by the ASAC Advisory Committee for her outstanding mentorship and leadership. Her work is forward based on student nominations. From the student nominations, it was abundantly clear that Dr. Hayes has a profound impact upon students within the department of psychology and beyond at Radford University. Dr. Hayes prioritizes student growth not only for the students in her classes but for the undergraduates she mentors but for any learner she interacts with.

Congratulations to Dr. Hyna Hayes on behalf of Radford University for providing incredible research experiences for our students.

GLOBAL LEADERSHIP

Radford University's Global Leadership Program is a leadership and professional development program that was chosen to attend the Leadership Presidential program this summer hosted by George Mason University. They are on a cohort of women chosen from more than 100 applications. They are the most deserving.

LEADERSHIP

Radford University's Leadership Program is a leadership and professional development program that was chosen to attend the Leadership Presidential program this summer hosted by George Mason University. They are on a cohort of women chosen from more than 100 applications. They are the most deserving.

If you would like to participate in either of these events please contact Dr. Megan Steele at m.steele@radford.edu. Planning is underway.

I

ant to post vely mpact the ves of ot t f t

Principal Investigators: Segal, O. Investigation of the Critical Intelligence Teaching and Learning Faculty Perspectives

Access survey

Office of the Provost
Radford University
Part of all 33
3 50 504 44

Subscribe to our email list.